

PORTFOLIO PHILOSOPHY - OWN TANGIBLE ASSETS

The Antares Real Estate Pool invests directly in tangible real estate assets, which include different privately-owned property types in multiple locations. The investment goals are to provide a diversified base from which to generate current income and build wealth over a multi-year time frame. The Pool offers private investors with the opportunity to invest in an asset class that is typically reserved for large institutional investors such as pensions and endowments.

The benefits of commercial and residential real estate can include:

- Rising income stream
- Capital appreciation
- Improved portfolio diversification
- Low correlation with stock markets

INVESTOR OBJECTIVE - STABILITY & INCOME

The Antares Real Estate Pool is appropriate for the investor who wants experienced professionals to invest on their behalf in private real estate. Typically, this investor already holds a portfolio of publicly-traded securities, such as equities and bonds, and is looking to complement that via an investment in real estate. The investor should have a multi-year time horizon with no requirement for liquidity from this part of their portfolio.

COMMENTARY FOR Q3 2018

We continue to shift capital within the pool as some of the properties in the U.S are sold. The market south of the border continues to be strong and we believe the timing is good to retain some of the profits on your behalf. As we look for new attractive investment opportunities, the pool currently holds a higher than normal cash balance that we expect to be temporary.

We intend to redeploy capital, likely in Canada, and are examining opportunities. In the meantime, the portfolio remains diversified across property types and geographic regions. Despite rising interest rates, we have not seen any meaningful impact on property prices. This is expected and the reason we believe that privately-held real estate can act as an effective hedge to stock market volatility. Real estate cycles tend to fluctuate less with interest rate levels and more so with access to capital, which is currently not an issue in the strong North American economy.
